

Home

AMC is an international, owner operated, independent market research and consulting firm, focused on the machine vision markets, both in the industrial and non- industrial fields.

Our products and services range from market reports via customer specific market research to consulting services, especially in business development, sales and strategic marketing.

Extensive experience in the world of machine vision added by a valuable network of partners and industry contacts makes AMC a unique source to meet your business needs.